FEDERAL COURT RULING ON TARIFF CHANGING POWERS OF PRESIDENT IS SOUGHT

Constitutionality of Flexible Provision of Law Delegating Arbitrary Power to Executive and Commission Will Be Tested by Interests Affected—Opinion of Attorney General Insufficient

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1923.

WASHINGTON, Oct 24 — The so-called flexible provision of the tariff law passed by the congress will be tested in the courts to determine its constitutionality.

Already various interests which are bound to be affected by the forthcoming action of the tariff commission are anticipating a court procedure to learn definitely whether congress can delegate its tariff making powers.

The tariff commission is at work on several petitions for a change in rates. The commission probably will present its first recommendations in four products—Casein, which is used by book publishers in coating paper; paint brush handlers; wall pockets used to insert brushes and other articles; and sodium nitrate.

Whether the rates are increased or diminished, the companies affected are said to be anxious to make sure that the actiton of the commission when proclaimed by the president is conclusive. Under the law the president acts on recommendation of the tariff commission proclaiming the changes in a formal way. Mr. Coolidge will ask Attorney General Daugherty for an opinion, no doubt, before issuing any proclamation.

The opinion of the attorney general ordinarily would be sufficient to prevent an appeal to the courts but the tariff is such a far-reaching affair that what might suit one group of interests would not per-

FAMILY CLOCK IS SAVINGS BANK, TOO

Coin Must Be Deposited in the Slot Every Time It Is Wound

WEST PALM BEACH Fla., Oct. 24—A family clock which demands at least five cents as its daily working wage has made its debut in West Palm Beach. It will not wind unless coins in denominations of 5, 10, or 25 cents are deposited.

But this new time piece is not so cruel after all, as it might seem. At the end of each month its coin-box can be unlocked and the money deposited there during the month will be returned, with gratifying silence. Thus it serves a double purpose—as a time-keeper and as a money-saver.

This coin clock is sold by a local bank. "Economical saving as regular as a clock," is the slogan the financial institution has adopted.

A. H. Wagg, president of the bank, vouches for the fact that the clock keeps perfect time so long as it is fed the daily coin. "Rewinding means the saving of at least one coin," he says. "Thus the pocket change so often wasted will build a substantial savings account when used to wind the clock."

The instrument has an open face plain, while the other material is steel. It will hold approximately $25 but there is a place for depositing bills, so that it will take care of as much money as desired.

DESTRUCTIVE GALE ENDS DROUGHT IN ATANTIC STATES

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 — While three persons are dead and more than a score injured, with great destruction of property, as a result of the gale raging between Maine and Florida the comforting assurance came today that the drought thruout the Atlantic states is broken.

More than two inches of rain has fallen in the area. The weather bureau expected the rain to continue today.

The gale, the worst of the season started in south Atlantic and moved along the coast. The storm center was at the Virginia capes this morning.

Fear was expressed for the Westmoreland, a British steamship reported sinking with her crew of eighty off the Delaware breakwater.

Another British boat unidentified was reported in distress off Fire Island and the [illegible] Macer[illegible] is ashore off Lewes, Delaware.

NEARLY MILLION LICENSES SOLD TO OHIO MOTORISTS

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24—The sale of automobile license tags in Ohio for 1923 has passed the 900,000 mark by more than 10,000 and the year has more than 60 days to go. But the demand is slackening considerable and if 2,000 more tags are issued for the present year it will be surprising.

But the auto industry has been always surprising and with reduction in the price of several popular makes it is hard to tell just how many more tags will be sold. The department of state is prepared for any rush however and has a supply of almost 5,000 pairs on hands.

Work on the 1924 tags is going along every day and they will soon be ready for delivery. No tags however will be delivered before Christmas, altho thousands of orders for special numbers are being sent to the department daily. A surprising number of auto owners want the same number each year, and in order to get them send their remittances several months in advance. One noticeable feature of the auto industry is the increased number of higher priced cars over the cheaper makes. This has been especially noticeably this year, and as a result the revenue from the sale of auto license tags is showing a splendid increase.

ASKS DAMAGES FOR MILLER'S REMARKS

Edward Eggleston of Newcomerstown has commenced proceedings in common pleas court at New Philadelphia, for the collection of $5,000 damages from Ross Miller, also of Newcomerstown in a slander [illegible].

Eggleston claimed he was slandered [illegible] was charged that he [illegible] criminal assault upon his daughter.

The petition filed says that Miller made the following remark about Eggleston:

"I want a warrant sworn out for Ed Eggleston charging him with rape on his daughter, Norma. I saw him draw her into an outbuilding where he raped her and then I saw him drag her back. He was urging her to make her quit crying. I have $5,000 to back it up. I want a doctor to examine her."

Attorney J. M. Richardson, New Philadelphia, prepared the petition.

Says Digestive System Makes Us Fat or Thin

If Lean It's Because Intestinal Tract Is Too Abbreviated

DON'T WORRY

If Plump It's Because Alimentary Canal Is Lengthy

KANSAS CITY, Oct 24—Folks, if you are fat—that is, over-plump—don't try to worry yourselves thin about it, and if you are lean and possibly lanky, just laugh about it—maybe you'll put on a little fat.

This advice from the nationally-known orthopedist, Dr. Joel E. Goldthwait, of Boston, should bring a little peace of mind to the many thousands of persons who worry little gray streaks in the covering of their heads over their figure and pour thousands of dollars into the penny scales to see how many ounces they went up or down, as the case may be, during the day.

Your weight, Dr Goldthwait explains, depends upon the length of your intestines, and that's the long and short of the whole thing. Fat people, for instance, have long intestines, while the thin folks have an abbrevited intestinal canal.

The weight, however, can be regulated to some extent by proper

Autos Bad Influence in College Life, Say Prominent Educators

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct 24—Like politics and religion, automobiles and education don't seem to mix.

At least this is the conclusion at which municipal authorities and a number of educators of the Middle West have arrived.

The question of motor cars in schools and colleges is similar to that of the automobile in every other stratum of society—it's increasing the speed of living.

It is marking a transition of an old order to the new—with enough advocates of the old remaining out of their graves (so the supporters of the motor hold) to present all the menaces of today's progress.

Chief of Police John B. Hammond, of Des Moines, has directed a severe attack on the practice of parents permitting their children to use automobiles in going to and from high school. He says it is creating a situation, not only in Des Moines, but throughout the country, with the following results.

Destruction of school democracy and creation of an aristocracy.

Breaking down of morals of both boys and girls.

Depriving students of necessary physical exercise.

The moral angle is the worst, according to Hammond.

"Girls and boys crowded together in an automobile, indulge in familiarities that should not be tolerated," the chief wrote the Board of Education in outlining his stand on youthful petting parties which are giving elders of the country considerable alarm.

"Girls are induced to go joy riding with boy students and encourage familiarities to insure their future popularity and more joy rides.

"These experiences do not lead to the doors of happy American homes—but to the doors of shame misery, disappointment and the divorce court.

"Already we have witnessed certain shameful high-school scandals in our own and other cities which justify and corroborate these statements."

Hammond asserted that the divorce courts are crowded with young people seeking separation from marriage.

"These are not confined to the ignorant," he contin[illegible] "The educated are in fact predominating. The basis of these separations [illegible] [illegible]. In many cases [illegible] [illegible] attention I [illegible] discovered that the immoral [illegible] caused the unhappy ending of [illegible] American home was contracted in the school age [illegible] through the agency of the automobile."

Hammond belie[illegible] [illegible] form of physical exercise [illegible] [illegible] few in the [illegible] [illegible] motor [illegible] of going to school [illegible] [illegible]

'COON SEASON THIS YEAR BEGINS NOV. 15

On the hunter's and trapper's licenses issued in December, 1922, for the year 1923, the season in which raccoons may be caught is given as November 1 to February 1. At the last meeting of the legislature, this was changed to November 15 to February 1, both dates inclusive, according to a letter from D. O. Thompson, chief of the division of fish and game. Anyone issuing these licenses is supposed to mark the change on the license.

PASTOR SAYS SEX NOT "FOUL CELLAR"

Really Is "Central Force in Heightening of Human Character, He Says

LONDON, Oct. 24—"Sex is not a foul cellar in the house of our lives," declared Dr Douglas White, in an amazingly frank paper which he read before the English Conference of Modern Churchmen.

In the past both good and bad people believed that sexual processes portook of the nature of sin, Dr White said. "But," he continued, "sex is not a foul cellar in the houses of our lives. On the contrary it is clear that sex is the central force in the heightening of human character.

"So far from being a degrading influence, it is that which beautifies human life at every stage, especially at the period of puberty, when manly and womanly qualities blossom into full independence of life with beauty of body, character and spirit.

"Lovers read the secrets of nature, and their love reaches all but immediate contact with God but to make the glimpse into a steady vision the spiritual element must guide the physical."

SLIGHT ABATEMENT OF VIOLENCE TODAY IN GERMAN SITUATION; SEPARATISTS MEETING STUBBORN OPPOSITION AS REACTION GROWS

Communists, Driven From Hamburg, Germany's Chief Port, Entrench Themselves in Suburbs—Saxony Is Quiet—France and Belgium Encourage Rhineland Rebels—Bavaria Is Lone State Proclaiming Independence From Republic

There was a slight abatement of violence in Germany today altho warfare still continued. From 20 to 35 persons were killed in disorders and fights. Hundred were wounded.

The Reds, driven from Hamburg, entrenched themselves in the suburbs and stubbornly resolved to give further battle.

Naval airplanes are protecting the Hamburg harbor.

Reaction against the secessionist movement has developed in the Rhineland. Ten separatists were beaten to death at Aachen (air La Chapelle) and the separatist mayor of Muenchen-Gladbach was murdered.

Information from official sources indicated that Bavaria is now the only German state not adhering to the reich. All the rest have promised loyalty.

Five hundred arrests have been made at Hamburg, where martial law was proclaimed.

Saxony is quiet under the iron rule of the federal military authorities.

Separatists are active in Pomerania and Mecklenburg but no violence has been reported.

BERLIN, Oct. 24 — Five persons were killed and 25 wounded in fresh battles today.

Ten separatists were lynched at Aachen (Aix La Chapelle), according of news received here today at noon.

Sailors were landed from a cruiser at Hamburg to help the police battle against the Reds.

One person was killed and two wounded in a fight between mobs and police at Erfurt.

Reichswehr troops were ordered to intervene at Hamburg. Up until today police had been used against the Reds in that city.

Fighting was still in progress at Hamburg this morning. Police were using hand grenades to dislodge the Communists from their positions.

Secessionists have become more active in Pommerania and Mecklenburg.

Severe fighting was reported from Aachen. Fires were reported from that city threatening many buildings in the commercial district.

Adispatch from Aachen this afternoon said that the secessionists in that district were gaining under prtoection of Beigia ntroops.

The French are accused of furnishing arms to the secessionists at Bonn.

Hamburg spent a night of terror. A flotilla of torpedo boats took food into the city. All night long firing was in progress. The clang of ambulances was continues. More than 200 wounded persons were taken to hospitals or their homes.

Five hundred arrests have been made at Hamburg. A defense organization is being organized at Altona near Hamburg.

A Reichswehr unit composed of the famous fifteenth division of Hussars was ordered to Wandsbeck, three miles from Hamburg, to be ready to aid the police in the event Red aggressions increased.

Reports from Hamburg shortly after noon stated that the Communists were establishing a line of trenches thru the suburbs of Schiffbeck. [illegible] the sailors landed at Hamburg from a [illegible] employed [illegible] service.

GRORCER'S "EGGS" CONTAINED BOOZE

Chicago Dealer Nabbed When Customer Winks As He Asks for Eggs

CHICAGO, Oct 24. Attaches of one of the municipal courts here were jolted out of their customary phlegmatic attitudes recently when a unique method of bootlegging was disclosed.

Tim Hanrahan grocery store proprietor, appeared before Judge John R. Newcomer for alleged violation of the prohibition law.

"Hanrahan sold moonshine in eggs at his store," William Shoemaker, police lieutenant testified.

"What's that?" asked Judge Newcomer.

"Well, I was in his store," the lieutenant continued, "when a customer saunters in and asks for one dozen fresh eggs. That was all right, only he winked at the boss when he said it.

"I took some of those eggs, and would you believe it, the original contents of the shells had been blown out and moonshine squirted in and the shells sealed. Tim was getting 15 cents apiece for those fresh 'eggs,' too."

Hanrahan paid his fine and was released.

Rose Mae, of Alliance, is going to marry Charles Stanford, Canton, a fireman. She is 23 and he is 28.

Nothing to that, you say. But this is the third time they are getting married!

The license application shows they were first divorced in March, 1918, when the bride was 18 years old. They were remarried and divorced again on June 19th of this year. Between her first and second marriages to Stanford, the bride married another man whom she divorced in 1919.

The young lady is believed to set an Ohio record, by participating in her fourth marriage ceremony at the age of 23.

ELYRIA — John and William Bryne, 15 and 13 years of age, of Detroit, Mich., were picked up here after they had run away from a parochial school at Lackawanna, Pa., last Friday. They were homesick. The pair had walked most of the way to Elyria, begging auto rides on the way.

YOUNGSTOWN — In spite of restrictions on busses, demanded by the street car company and imposed by the city council, the Chamber of Commerce's investigating committee finds that operating expenses are not being met by receipts, according to its report. Discontinuance of service is threatened by the company unless the "service-at-cost" franchise is amended to prevent further loss.

WELLINGTON — The Lorain County Tuberculin Prevention Association of cattle owners has been formed, with County Farm Agent Howard Rogers as president and George W. Warner, secretary. Dr. Zimmer, state veterinarian, outlined the area work of eradicating tuberculosis from dairy herds.

CINCINNATI — Pleading that her arrest would break up her home, a woman whom dry officers were about to arrest on a liquor charge was released. However her escort and the bartender in the establishment where she was found are held on charges of possession. The bartender is Horace Dix, 33, and the other prisoner is George Lorman, 27, a street car motorman.

GLOUSTER — Mine 267, near Hunterdon, employing about 300 men, was closed recently because the miners were loading dirty coal. The mine was closed some weeks ago for the same reason and had been operating but a few days when shut down again.

ATHENS—The Athens county tax rate will be generally higher this year, because of many new school buildings. Murray City, a mining town, will pay $3.03 on every $100 valuation, the highest rate in the district, while Amesville, in a farming section, pays the lowest rate, $1.92.

ELYRIA—The Associated Charities added 31 new families to the 79 already supported, the annual report states. Four cases were re-opened, eight non-residents and 12 transients were given a "lift." Officers elected were: C. L. Sotherdon, president; H. C. Wilcox, vice-president; L. A. Obitts, secretary; S. C. Shaw, treasurer; and Marie S. Gilman, general secretary.

CINCINNATI — Police provided William Hartin, negro, of Dayton, with a pair of trousers when he took refuge in a garage minus that necessary article. Eight negroes were so intent on obtaining $31 which he had that they reduced his outer garments to rags.

WELLINGTON—E. G. Burge and wife, of Bright, celebrated their seventy-first wedding anniversary with 36 descendents present.

GLOUSTER—More than 70 cases of typhoid fever were reported in the Athens county mining camps during the past month. Many of them resulted from wells flooded during the long period of heavy rains, it is believed.

Philadelphia M. D. Retrieves More Than 1,200 Objects from Kiddies' Throats

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24 — Removing the various objects which infants elect to jam down their throats from time to time is becoming a specialty with Dr. Chevalier Jackson, of the Jefferson Hospital here, to whom numerous cases have been brought from all over the country. Many a time the tiny victims have raced against death, winning only by the few seconds it required to place them on the operating table.

Recently a safety pin was removed from the throat of a baby rushed from Concord, N. C. But Dr. Jackson's greatest achievement occurred the other day when 5-year-old Anna McHale, of Ashland, Pa., was brought in with a toy goat of metal firmly lodged in her throat.

The time required did not even necessitate Anna's admission as a patient to the hospital. Dr. Jackson simply took a bronchoscope, an illuminated tube of his own invention, and with it located the stubborn goat. Forceps were then used inside the tube and the refractory toy taken out without an anaesthetic being administered.

According to the hospital records Dr. Jackson has removed more than 1,200 objects from children, including pins, nails, buttons and even whistles.

BURN GARDEN REFUSE TO DESTROY PESTS

Many garden insects and diseases are destroyed in the fall by burning the weeds, remnants of plants and rubbish.

Composting such matter does not always destroy the insect life and disease infection in such left-over material. Grassy borders around or near the garden should be burned over in the late fall to destroy hibernation places of such insects as onion thrips, tarnished plant bug, asparagus beetle, striped cucumber beetle, and slugs.

Some of the troublesome diseases hold over in remnants of diseased plants.

L. A. ILLICIT BOOZE TOLL SINCE JANUARY 1 IS 17

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Seventeen persons were killed in this city by unlawful liquor, mostly "moonshine" whiskey, since January 1, according to startling figures revealed at the county coroner's office.

In the majority of cases death occurred after the victims had suffered terrible pain and in some instances it was suspected that the liquor imbibed was poisonous, according to police reports.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

Highway Bridge Named After Hero of Argonne

PUTNAM, Conn., Oct. 24. — A new precedent was established here when the State Highway Department named a new bridge built to carry a re-paved highway over a river after a local war hero. Harry Clinton Hopkins, who died in the Argonne in October, 1918, is the one for whom the bridge is named. Other Connecticut towns will follow suit.

Gas Price Fluctuates Fast as German Marks

MARTINS FERRY, OHIO, Oct. 24—Gasoline prices fell so rapidly that John D. Rockefeller's service station here had to use cardboard to post the prices. Formerly the price was carried on a neatly painted metal disc. Changes recently were so rapid that for several days until the paint on the metal could have time to dry, cardboard was used.

Football Fashion Notes

MARTINS FERRY, O., Oct. 24.—A headband, made of the school colors, is a football season fashion here this fall. At a recent gridiron contest this adornment graced the heads of a number of local girls. Instead of the usual ribbons some of the boys wore purple and white asters.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO

ARTICLE II, SECTION 35

PROPOSING TO AMEND SECTION 35, OF ARTICLE II OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO RELATIVE TO WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each House concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state [illegible] on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1923, a proposal to amend section 35 of article II of the constitution of the state of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE II.

Sec. 35. For the purpose of providing compensation to workmen and their dependents, for death, injuries or occupational disease, occasioned in the course of such workmen's employment, laws may be passed establishing a state fund to be created by compulsory contribution thereto by employers, and administered by the state, determining the terms and conditions upon which payment shall be made therefrom. Such compensation shall be in lieu of all other rights to compensation, or damages, for such death, injuries, or occupational disease, and any employer who pays the premium or compensation provided by law, passed in accordance herewith, shall not be liable to respond in damages at common law or by statute for such death, injuries or occupational disease. Laws may be passed establishing a board which may be empowered to classify all occupations, according to their degree of hazard, to fix rates of contribution to such fund according to such classification, and to collect, administer and distribute such fund, and to determine all rights of claimants thereto. Such board shall set aside as a separate fund such proportion of the contributions paid by employers as in its judgment may be necessary, not to exceed one per centum thereof in any year, and so as to equalize, insofar as possible, the burden thereof, to be expended by such board in such manner as may be provided by law for the investigation and prevention of industrial accidents and diseases. Such board shall have full power and authority to hear and determine whether or not an injury, disease or death resulted because of the failure of the employer to comply with any specific requirement for the protection of the lives, health or safety of employes, enacted by the General Assembly or in the form of an order adopted by such board, and its decision shall be final; and for the purpose of such investigations and inquiries it may appoint referees. When it is found, upon hearing, that an injury, disease or death resulted because of such failure by the employer, such amount as shall be found to be just, not greater than fifty nor less than fifteen per centum of the maximum award established by law, shall be added by the board, to the amount of the compensation that may be awarded on account of such injury, disease, or death, and paid in like manner as other awards; and, if such compensation is paid from the state fund, the premium of such employer shall be increased in such amount, covering such period of time as may be fixed, as will recoup the state fund in the amount of such additional award, notwithstanding any and all other provisions in this constitution.

SCHEDULE: If a majority of the electors voting on said amendment shall be ascertained, according to law, to have voted in favor thereof, the same shall take effect on the first day of January, 1924, and said original section 35 of article II of the constitution of Ohio shall thereupon be repealed.

Be it further resolved, That at the election herein provided for, for the submission of this amendment to the electors of the state, the same shall be placed upon the official ballot in the manner provided by law, and shall be designated as follows:

Providing compensation for all accidents and diseases arising out of employment, providing additional compensation for employes where accident or disease results from failure to comply with specific requirements for the protection of lives, health and safety of employes, abolishing open liability of employers, and providing a fund for the investigation and prevention of industrial accidents and diseases. YES.

Providing compensation for all accidents and diseases arising out of employment, providing additional compensation for employes where accident or disease results from failure to comply with specific requirements for the protection of lives, health and safety of employes, abolishing open liability of employers, and providing a fund for the investigation and prevention of industrial accidents and diseases. NO.

And be it further resolved, That the required publication of said amendment shall be made, and the form of the ballot to be used at said election for the submission thereof, shall be prepared by the secretary of state in conformity with law and the foregoing provisions.

Speaker of the House of Representatives.
EARL D. BLOOM,
President of the Senate.
Adopted April 6th, 1923.

ARTICLE V, SECTION 1

PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE V, SECTION 1, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO, RELATIVE TO THE ELECTIVE FRANCHISE.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each House concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, for their approval or rejection at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1923, a proposal to amend article V, section 1, of the constitution of the state of Ohio, to read as follows:

ARTICLE V.

Section 1. Every citizen of the United States, of the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of the state one year next preceding the election, and of the county, township, or ward, in which he resides, such time as may be provided by law, shall have the qualifications of an elector, and be entitled to vote at all elections.

Be it further resolved, That at such election above referred to, this proposal shall be placed on the official ballot in the manner provided by law in such form as the secretary of state may designate.

If the votes for the proposal shall exceed those against it, this amendment shall become a part of the constitution, and original section 1 of article V of the constitution of the state of Ohio shall be repealed and annulled.

H. H. GRISWOLD,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
EARL D. BLOOM,
President of the Senate.
Adopted April 6th, 1923.

ARTICLE II, SECTION 1g

PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE II, SECTION 1g OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO RELATIVE TO PUBLICATION OF NOTICE OF PROPOSED LAW OR CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TOGETHER WITH ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each House concurring therein:

That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state for their approval or rejection, at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1923, a proposal to amend article II, section 1g, of the constitution of the state of Ohio to read as follows:

Sec. 1g. Any initiative, supplementary or referendum petition may be presented in separate parts but each part shall contain a full and correct copy of the title, and text of the law, section or item thereof sought to be referred, or the proposed law or proposed amendment to the constitution. Each signer of any initiative, supplementary or referendum petition must be an elector of the state and shall place on such petition after his name the date of signing and his place of residence. A signer residing outside of a municipality shall state the township and county in which he resides. A resident of a municipality shall state in addition to the name of such municipality, the street number, if any, of his residence and the ward and precinct in which the same is located. The names of all signers to such petitions shall be written in ink, each signer for himself. To each part of such petition shall be attached the affidavit of the person soliciting the signatures to the same, which affidavit shall contain a statement of the number of the signers of such part of such petition and shall state that each of the signatures attached to such part was made in the presence of the affiant, that to the best of his knowledge and belief each signature on such part is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be, that he believes the persons who have signed it to be electors, that they so signed said petition with knowledge of the contents thereof, that each signer signed the same on the date stated [illegible] [illegible] said petition [illegible] not less than forty days [illegible] shall be [illegible] additional days shall be allowed for the filing of additional signatures [illegible]. No law or amendment to the constitution submitted to the electors by initiative and supplementary petition and receiving an affirmative majority of the votes cast thereon, shall be held unconstitutional or void on account of the insufficiency of the petitions by which such submission of the same was procured; nor shall the rejection of any law submitted by referendum petition be held invalid for such insufficiency. Upon all initiative, supplementary, and referendum petitions provided for in any of the sections of this article, it shall be necessary to file from each of one-half of the counties of the state, petitions bearing the signatures of not less than one-half of the designated percentage of the electors of such county. A true copy of all laws or proposed laws or proposed amendments to the constitution, together with an argument or explanation, or both, for, and also an argument or explanation, or both, against the same, shall be prepared. The person or persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, against any law, section or item, submitted to the electors by referendum petition, may be named in such petition and the persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, for any proposed law or proposed amendment to the constitution may be named in the petition proposing the same. The person or persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, for the law, section, or item, submitted to the electors by referendum petition, or against any proposed law submitted by supplementary petition, shall be named by the general assembly, if in session, and if not in session then by the governor. The secretary of state shall either (a) cause to be printed the law, or proposed law, or proposed amendment to the constitution, together with the arguments and explanations, not exceeding a total of three hundred words for each, and also the arguments and explanations, not exceeding a total of three hundred words against each, and shall mail, or otherwise distribute, a copy of such law, or proposed law, or proposed amendment to the constitution, together with such arguments and explanations for and against the same to each of the electors of the state, as far as may be reasonably possible, or, (b) cause to be prepared such law, or proposed law, or proposed amendment to the constitution, together with the arguments and explanations, not exceeding a total of three hundred words both for and against each, and cause the same to be published in one or more newspapers in each county of the state, once each week, for not more than three consecutive weeks, the last publication thereof to be not less than ten days prior to the day of election.

Be it further resolved, That at such election above referred to this proposal shall be placed on the official ballot in the manner provided by law in such form as the secretary of state may designate.

If the votes for the proposal shall exceed those against it, this amendment shall take effect on the first day of January, 1924, and original section 1g of article II of the constitution of the state of Ohio shall be repealed and annulled.

How a Single Industry Spreads Prosperity

A most significant fact about an industry is the large number of people who benefit from it.

Take the cement industry, as an example:

The mills used 9,000,000 tons of coal last year. This meant 9,000 coal miners steadily employed—their families, numbering not less than 25,000, maintained—and along with them tradesmen and other people enough to supply the needs of a town of over 50,000.

That is, of course, saying nothing of the business created for coal operators and transportation lines.

Sacks are not so large an item in the cement industry as coal, yet 50,000,000 new sacks, representing 50,000 bales of cotton, had to be bought last year for replacements alone. Back of this were cotton planters, plantation workers, mill owners, mill operatives and so on—thousands altogether.

And consider these other requirements of the industry last year:

3,700,000 barrels of fuel oil
3,400,000,000 cubic feet of gas
15,000,000 pounds of explosives
32,000,000 pounds of greases and oils
1,700,000 linear feet of belting
4,500,000 firebrick for relining kilns
7,000,000 pounds of paper for bags
600,000 tons of gypsum

In addition the industry bought quantities of heavy grinding and burning machinery, locomotives, cars, rails, electrical and other necessary equipment.

In this way a single industry spreads prosperity to many others.

"A COMMON COLD DESERVES YOUR PROMPT ATTENTION"
Take Father John's Medicine

"A common cold deserves your immediate and serious attention." So writes a well-known physician, in pointing out the danger of neglecting a cold. "Early treatment of a cold will spare you days of suffering and danger," he says. Doctors will tell you that colds are very likely to develop into serious and even fatal diseases if they are neglected. Many doctors prescribe Father John's Medicine because they know it has had over 68 years of success for colds and coughs. It builds new strength to throw off the cold and prevents its development into more serious trouble. No drugs—all pure food.

Women of Three Generations

The daughter, mother and grandmother have all proved from personal experience the remarkable strengthening and tonic properties of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in overcoming the ills of women. It was first made from roots and herbs by Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., for her neighbors and friends. Its fame has spread from shore to shore until it is now looked upon by women everywhere as the standard remedy for woman's ills. It has been proved that it benefits 9 out of every 10 women who try it, which is a marvelous record for any remedy to hold.

A FRIEND IN NEED.

"WELL, keep on staring, you slick fellow," Mrs. Cricket gasped as she peeked through the glass jar in which she had been held a prisoner for the last three hours, and saw Billy Mouse gazing at her, his face all smiles. "I've always heard it said that folks raised under the cellar floor were never taught manners."

"Gracious, Mrs. Cricket!" squeaked Billy Mouse. "I really don't mean to be rude, but how in the world can you content yourself with living in a glass house? Folks are bound to stop and look, for I always thought you crickets lived under the ground."

"We do, silly!" snapped Mrs. Cricket, trying her best to find an opening in the glass jar through which she might get out. She even forgot her dignity and hopped up against the pad over the top of the jar. Then she sat down and cried.

"Don't be cross," Billy Mouse said, swallowing hard. He hated to see anyone cry. "I'll see if I can't get you out. How in the world did you come to get in such a pickle-jar?"

"Like all lazy, foolish folks," replied Mrs. Cricket, wiping her eyes with her tiny apron. "I grew tired of the meadow-lands and decided I'd move into the farmhouse for the Winter months. I moved in all right, but I was so proud of the fact that I was on my way out to invite all my relatives to move in with me, when the freckled-faced boy who lives here spotted me, caught me and put me in this jar. I suppose he'll forget I'm here and then I'll starve to death. It serves me right for not being satisfied with my lot."

"I Don't Mean to Be Rude."

Billy Mouse had a bright idea. He ran back to the edge of the table, made a dash at the jar and bumped against it so hard that Mrs. Cricket fell over on her back.

"No, that won't do," sighed Billy Mouse. "Excuse me for upsetting you. I thought I could knock that jar over. But I've another good idea." and Billy Mouse began chewing on a hard piece of bread. He pulled it over against the jar and kept on gnawing it, making all the noise he could.

Old Gray Puss, who had been sleeping under the kitchen stove, heard him, opened her eyes, stretched, then, when she spied Billy Mouse right on the table, she made a mighty leap. Down went the jar, off slid the paper and Mrs. Cricket found herself floundering on the table, upside down.

She lost no time in righting herself and hopped behind the sugar-bowl. Billy Mouse ran around the room until he found his doorway, a hole in the kitchen floor, then he disappeared, and Gray Puss sat down beside it to wait for him to return.

She soon went to sleep, and Mrs. Cricket sneaked over to the doorway and hopped out the screen-door when the wind blew it open. She never forgot her experience and that was the last time she ever wished to live in the big farmhouse.

MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

© 1923, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Madge Thought Harriet Wanted a Private Interview.

DR. BRAITHWAITE and his wife greeted me warmly, a greeting which I returned with sincerity, for I am genuinely fond of my sister-in-law and her husband. It is a liking as strong as my aversion to Dicky's other sister, Elizabeth Harrison, whose relationship to her mother and sister I never have been able to explain except by atavism. Then after a cordial word to Lillian and Marion, Harriet Braithwaite turned to Dicky.

"Richard, you absurd boy," she scolded, "what did you mean by picturing your apartment in such awful colors? Why! it's charming!"

"Delightful," her Edwin Braithwaite, echoed, his eyes following his wife's around the room while I telegraphed a glance of appreciation and thankfulness to Lillian, and preened myself a bit at Dicky's look of astonished approval.

Lillian had softened the old-fashioned and ugly electric chandelier over the table with impromptu shades fashioned from the soft tinted paper surrounding the flowers, and decked it with trailing vines. Instead of being the ugliest thing in the room it was suddenly the prettiest, striking a note which Lillian had carried out in the decking of the table beneath it. And the softened light mellowed and lent beauty to everything else in the room. Even the atrocious coarse lace curtains at the windows became delicate and filmy in the glamour of that coloring.

Dicky Compliments Lillian.

I enjoyed their inspection to the full, and then, remembering the apartment upstairs exactly like our own which I had tried to make comfortable for my sister-in-law, but which I was afraid would now appear doubly unattractive by contrast, I hastened to explain.

"I am afraid Dicky is partly right, Harriet. These rooms are awful from an artistic standpoint, although they are clean and comfortable. But Mrs. Underwood is a genius at this sort of thing, and I turned her loose in here a few minutes ago with the results you see."

"I thought I lamped your fine Italian mitt," Dicky commented with a grandiose bow to Lillian. "But, Harriet," drawing a chair forward and putting her into it. "I am afraid daylight will compel your agreement with me that it is nothing but a dump, pure and simple."

"I wish I had one like it," his sister retorted, and, remembering Dicky's captious criticism, I could not resist flashing him a triumphant grin as I answered:

"You have the one directly above this on the next floor. Would you like to go up there and rest for a few minutes while I get dinner on the table?"

"Oh! indeed I would," she answered, promptly rising. "How about you, Edwin?"

Her big husband looked up quizzically from the armchair in which he had ensconced himself. Marion was perched on his knee, and his strong fine face wore the contented look which the proximity of a child always brings to him.

"You couldn't drag me from this spot with twice twenty wild horses," he said firmly. "I will consent to wash the dust from my hands and face before dinner, but I know Madge will let me do that down here."

The difference in the name each gave me was indicative of the personality of each. Harriet, who inherits the dignity and precision of her mother, always addresses me by my full name of Margaret, although I do not think she dislikes the diminutive as does my mother-in-law. But Edwin Braithwaite, famous surgeon, always calls me Madge, the name which Dicky has endeared to me, and which no one before him had ever given me.

"The keys of the flat are yours," I told him, smiling. "Dicky will do the honors whenever you are ready."

Dicky Is to Do the Honors.

"Yes, and I'll pull out some man-size towels for you, Edwin," my husband retorted, "instead of those pocket handkerchiefs women term guest towels."

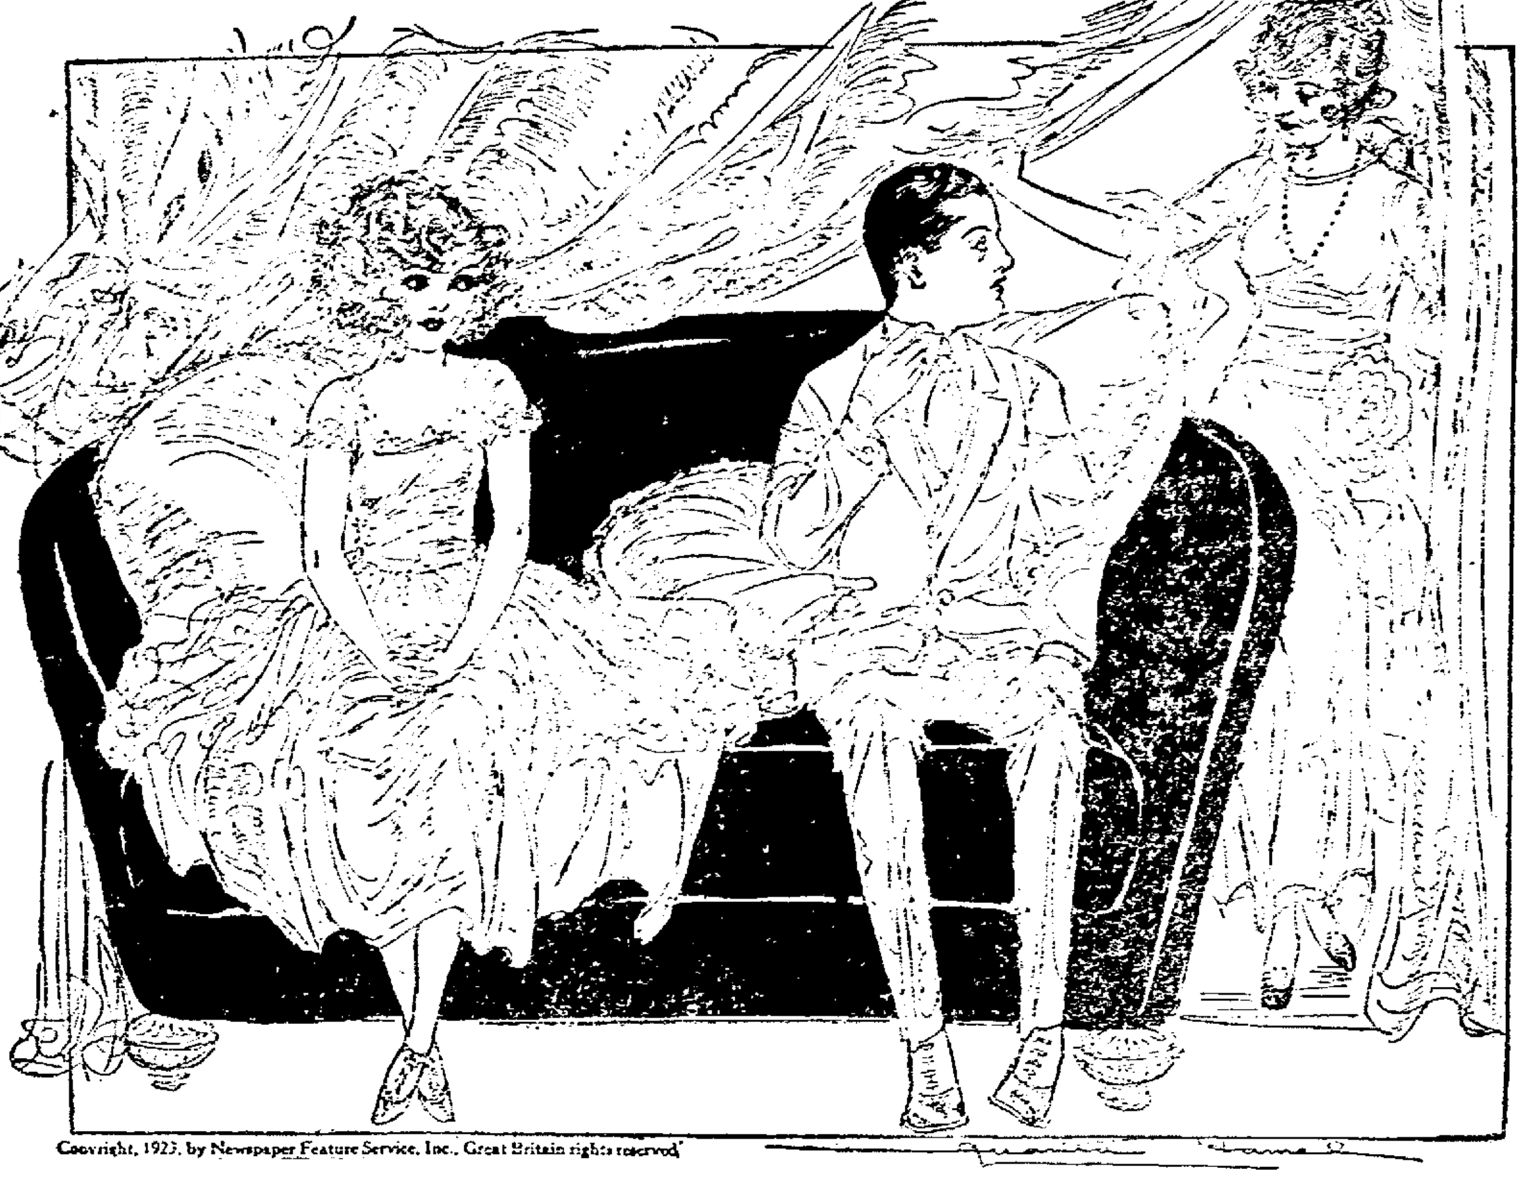

"Lillian, I leave them and the vegetables in your hands," I said resignedly. "Come, Harriet, I'll show you your rooms. Which bags do you wish with you now? Dicky will take them up."

She waved Dicky back, as he bent with alacrity toward the suitcases piled in the corner of the living room.

"I need only this." She picked up a small, overnight bag of handsome leather. "The rest will do when we go up to our room for the night."

Her tone and words were casual, yet somehow I knew that my stately sister-in-law wished to see me by myself.

HOW it all will live in her heart when the long, long years have carried her far past the delicious embarrassment—the heartbreaking joy—the rose mists of the Love that came first! A Prince Charming he looked indeed as he stepped into the shaded light on that evening of evenings, his own face flushed a bit! What did they talk of as they sat together so very near, yet so very far? For they talked of course—but as in a dream. The only word either of them heard that night was Mother's "Good Evening," which was not greeting at all but tactful farewell, as she stood smiling—and poised—beside them.

Skin Eruptions Warn Against Over-Medication

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. COPELAND

PERSONS who have naturally clear and clean skins are always frightened when any kind of rash appears. It is the daily experience of doctors to have somebody come to ask about a skin eruption.

It is rare indeed for a child to pass from infancy to youth without having a period, perhaps for several years, when the skin, particularly of the face, is broken out much of the time. I know a boy of twelve who is just going through that experience. His mother looks him over every day or two and administers gentle treatment which seems cruel and unnecessary to the lad. But when he gets a little older and begins to cast eyes about, the condition of his face will be a matter of vital importance to him.

It is rare to have any kind of skin disease which may be said to be purely a local affair. Most skin eruptions are due to a poisoning or toxemia. The majority may be traced to intestinal absorption. Bad teeth, kidney troubles and other ailments where there is pus absorption may be the responsible causes of skin eruptions.

Then there are disturbances of the skin following the taking of certain drugs. These are the eruptions I want to tell you about to-day.

Almost always a suddenly acquired blemish of the skin is a danger signal. Just as the red light on the railroad gives warning, so does the red eruption of the skin. It means something. Certainly when a given drug causes a skin reaction it should warn you that it does not agree with your system. No matter how useful it is for others and how much you need the usual effects of the drug, there is something about your heart or kidneys that interferes with proper elimination.

Even though an occasional dose of the particular drug or prolonged administration has been taken without disturbance, there may be a sudden breaking out of the skin. This is because the body cares for a reasonable quantity, but if too much is taken, it is stored up in the system, accumulating quantities which ultimately will produce the skin effects.

It is not always easy to determine either that the trouble is due to a drug, or, if to a drug, what particular drug is at fault. The history of the case may determine it, but in some cases careful study, including testing the urine, may be necessary.

Some of the drugs capable of causing skin eruptions are the following:

A rash resembling measles may be produced by antipyrin, cubebs, opium and morphine and sulphonal.

An appearance like scarlet fever may follow the use of belladonna, chloral, digitalis, iodoform, mercury, midol, quinine and salvarsan.

Some of these same drugs may cause hive-like eruptions of the skin.

Erysipelas-like conditions occasionally follow the taking of aconite, bromides and iodide of potash.

Pigmentation of the skin may be produced by arsenic and silver nitrate.

All these disturbances are likely to be transient and quickly disappear after the drug is discontinued. When caused by the juice of a plant, like poison ivy, there may be itching and pain for several days.

It is well to give heed to all skin disturbances and, should you develop an eruption during the time you are taking medicine, call the attention of your doctor to the circumstances. He will advise you what to do.

Answers to Health Questions.

MRS. S. Q.—I have a nephew who has tubercular glands, and one of his lungs is affected. Very recently I found out that my little boy had been eating from the same dish and using the same spoon. Will you please tell me how I can prevent my boy from becoming infected?

A.—The best thing to do is to have the boy examined by a physician to determine his condition. Watch the child and make sure that he does not use the same dish or spoon as the infected child. Keep him out of doors and in the sunshine as much as possible, and give him plenty of good nourishing food. See that his sleeping room is well ventilated.

Refresh Yourself with a Bath and Lotion After a Hard Day

By LUCREZIA BORI
The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

LUCREZIA BORI

NO woman is satisfied to look tired and wan, with the fresh lines of beauty gone from her face.

If you come in after a hard day's shopping or working or doing anything that has tired you, or if you have stayed at home all day, and still feel a bit fagged and look it, you should have some good treatment "up your sleeve," as it were.

You cannot afford to continue tired, for you'll look the way you feel, and for the time being, at least, your beauty will be gone.

Now there's nothing so helpful to coax that tired feeling out of your bones as a good leisurely bath. Some women prefer warm baths and some prefer to take cold showers because of their bracing effect.

If you aren't going out into the wind soon afterward I suggest drawing a warm tub, not hot, but pleasantly warm. If you have some bath salts, you will enjoy scattering some in the water. The perfumed water leaves your skin with a fresh sweet odor after you have bathed.

Lie back in the tub for a minute and relax all over. The pleasant warm water will take that feeling of weariness from you. Take your time about bathing.

If cold showers agree with you, you may follow the bath by a cold shower or dip. But unless your skin glows pleasantly all over after the application of cold water, simply take the warm bath. If you plan to go out soon after, the cold dip helps insure you against taking a cold, but if you are staying in, the warm bath helps to make you feel pleasantly relaxed.

Bathe your face with warm water before you get into the tub, for it is never well to bathe your face in the same water in which you bathe your body. Dry your face by gently patting it with a very soft towel.

Here is a face lotion you will find wonderfully refreshing:

Juice of 3 lemons.
50 grains of glycerine.
10 grams of cologne water.

You may apply this lightly to your face when you start dressing. Pour a small amount in the palm of your left hand and rub it over your face. It, too, will help you to feel rested and refreshed.

Change into fresh underthings, and the daintier they are the better you will feel. Many women who can only afford to wear plain underwear most of the time make special things, taking extra trouble with them, for wear in the house and under fine frocks.

This doesn't mean that your lingerie has to be expensive. Sheer batiste is not expensive and it makes the daintiest possible underwear, especially if you take the trouble to edge it with some pretty lace and run some faintly colored ribbon through the top.

Arrange your hair very carefully, for the more becomingly you dress, the better you will feel. This doesn't mean you will have to take a long time about it, for it's quite as easy to dress quickly and well as to make it a long-drawn-out process.

The first time you feel and look particularly fagged, try this and see if you don't look prettier and feel much better.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON
The Authority on Home Cooking

Desserts That Can Make Dinner Delectable.

DESSERTS are always a first aid in helping out a plain dinner. And most of us like a good dessert. Homemade desserts are always good even if they are not fancy, and it is the pride of most housewives that they have so goodly a number on their lists that the same dessert need not be used over and over. Some desserts of course are seasonable, as they depend on fresh fruit, but even these may be used out of season by substituting canned for fresh fruit, and they will be quite acceptable prepared in this way if not "just as good."

Apple-butter Pie.

Line a deep pie-plate with a good crust, then fill it with well-seasoned, thick apple-butter, sprinkling a little sugar over the top that has been mixed with cornstarch. Sprinkle a little lemon juice over the sugar. Put on the top crust or lattice the top with strips of crust. Serve this pie either hot or cold.

Peach Pie.

Into a crust-lined pie-plate, slice thinly, enough peaches to fill it. Dot the peaches with butter and turn over them a cupful of sugar with which a teaspoonful of cornstarch has been mixed. Add two tablespoonfuls of water or honey. Put on the top crust and bake the pie. Serve it with cream.

Spiced Pear Pie.

Peel, quarter and core enough deliciously flavored pears to fill a crust-lined pie-plate. Put a cupful of sugar into a saucepan with the juice of a large lemon, a saltspoonful each of clove, cinnamon, ginger and allspice and a quarter cupful of water. Mix and cook this mixture for three minutes, then thicken it slightly with a teaspoonful each of butter and flour rubbed to a paste. Turn the sauce over the pears, add the top crust and bake the pie in the usual way.

Glorified Custard.

Make a plain boiled custard after any of the usual recipes and when done, pour it into a large dish or into glasses. Beat very stiff the whites of three fresh eggs, then beat in three tablespoonfuls of sifted, powdered sugar and add a teaspoonful of vanilla. Drop this mixture by spoonfuls onto a very lightly-buttered baking-dish and cook it a light brown in a cooling oven. Spread a layer of soft jelly or jam over the custard, then with a sharp knife remove the little meringues from the dish and drop them on top of the jelly. Chill the custard before serving.

Popular Biscuit Tortoni.

This popular frozen dainty is easily made and can be frozen in one mass instead of being placed in fancy boxes as it is usually served. Make a good rich boiled custard and add to it a cupful each, of powdered stale macaroons and walnuts. Flavor this mixture well with vanilla. Remember that flavoring freezes out so use enough—about a tablespoonful to a quart of custard. In serving the tortoni, after it is frozen hard the top of each portion may be dusted with a little of the powdered nut and macaroon crumbs and a cherry may be placed in the center. No sauce is used.

Pineapple Marshmallow Creole.

Dice the flesh of a fresh pineapple and add to it twenty marshmallows quartered with a sharp knife. Add a half cupful of powdered sugar and a cupful of heavy cream. Set this mixture on ice for two hours, stirring it frequently. Serve it in sauce plates or glass cups and top it with a candied cherry. This delicacy is easily made and is a very dainty dessert.

Quick Shortcakes.

If unexpected company arrives, make a pan of quick hot biscuits. Be sure to cut these with a large cutter. When they are baked, split them open and butter them generously. Have ready oranges cut up and sugared, drained, canned, grated pineapple or else preserves that have been drained from their juice and cut up fine. Fill the shortcakes with the fruit, put on the upper crust, cover the tops with a little more fruit, then heap them with whipped cream or else use the fruit juice as a sauce.

BRIGHT EYES.

BRIGHT EYES: Why let a petty quarrel break a friendship that you both valued? [illegible] the young man to your home and patch it all up. Give him the gift [illegible] That should make you both happy.

But, my dear, since you are not engaged, it is wise for you not to think too seriously of the young man. You should still enjoy the friendship of others, as well.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a married woman of [illegible] What shall I do about it? COUSIN SUE.

COUSIN SUE: Make yourself as attractive as you possibly can, my dear. When your husband comes home let him find a happy, attractive wife, who has finished her housework and is ready to spend the evening with him. [illegible] you did before you were married.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am very much in love with a young man. There is five years difference in our ages. He is the [illegible] I write him, but he answers very coldly. Would you please tell me how I can make him more attentive? PEGGY.

PEGGY: There is nothing you can do, without appearing bold, to make the young man show you more attention, my dear. Unless he takes the initiative and shows that he is anxious to correspond with you, you should not [illegible] the friendship.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a girl eighteen years old. [illegible] I met a young man, [illegible] school, who is four years my senior.

He seemed to like me very much [illegible] he asked me to marry [illegible] year from now, when he finishes college.

We are not engaged, however. He is attending school in a nearby town and does not come to see me very often. He only writes once [illegible]

I like him very much. Please tell me whether I should continue corresponding with him. Should I give him up and go with [illegible] young men who want to go with me? DISCOURAGED.

DISCOURAGED: There is no reason why you should discontinue corresponding with this young man or seeing him. But it will be far better if you went about with other young men, too.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her, in care of this office.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

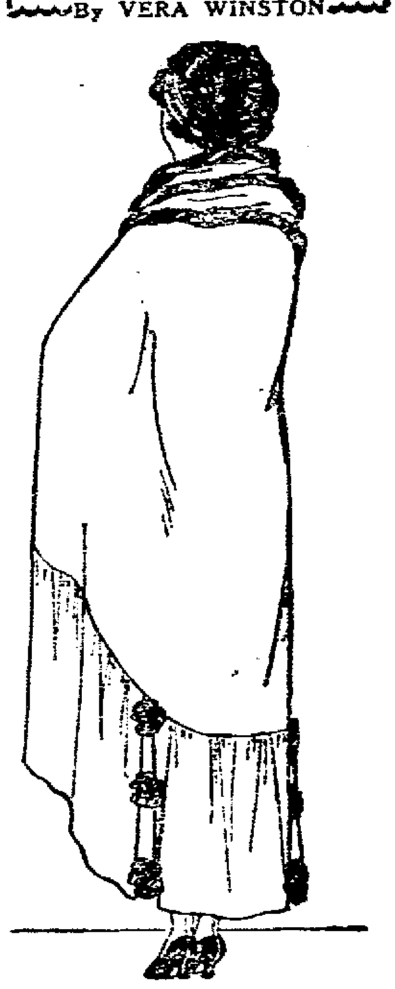

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25.

The prospect of a removal, change or journey is forecast from this day's astral activities. This should be entered upon after wise and careful pondering, since there may be inimical forces operating to bring defeat or anxiety into certain phases of existence. With Venus under unkindly aspect with Luna, it may be that inharmony or sorrow may enter into domestic social or romantic affiliations. Transactions having to do with adornment or clothing of women, amusements or the fine arts may suffer.

Those whose birthday it is are forewarned of certain difficulties or trials manifesting in the home or social relationships during the year. They should be discreet at all times and make changes with deliberation. A child born on this day may be inclined to be careless and fond of pleasure, unless it is given early training in industry and thrift.

Here Is a Simple Cape of Hydrangea Blue Velvet Colored with Bands of Ermine.

THE flounce treatment has proved itself one of the most popular of the season. It is lovely on the straightline, beltless frocks and it makes a very soft, becoming finish for a simple evening cape.

This model is of velvet in soft hydrangea blue. The crushed blue velvet collar gains becomingness in its addition of narrow bands of ermine.

Blue velvet roses adorn the flounce. Ermine tails might be substituted here in place of the roses. The wrap is interlined, the lining that shows being shirred blue chiffon.

The Rev. William B. Winters performed the marriage service Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, in Grace M. E. rectory, 422 Walnut-st, for Miss Marguerite Haight and Russell Evans, both of this city.

The ring ceremony was read in the presence of the bride's sister Miss Esther Haight, of Alliance, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Dollie Evans and Mr. Davis.

Dark blue Canton crepe fashioned the bride's gown. With this she wore a fetching hat to correspond and carried an armful of Killarney roses.

Miss Haight was graduated from the Roscoe high school and is well known and highly admired in both that community and in Coshocton. She possesses more than usual musical talent and is prominent in musical and church circles. For more than three years past she has been engaged as bookkeeper at the F. W. Woolworth company.

Immediately following their marriage, Mr. Evans and his bride left for a several days honeymoon trip to Cleveland and Alliance. Upon their return the latter part of the week, they will make their home with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Haight, Coshocton Route 7, for the present.

Mr. Evans is employed at the Home Electric company.

Unusually clever invitations have been issued to members in the Elks club for a Hallowe'en dancing party to be given by the Elks Dancing club on the evening of October 31, in their hall.

Extensive plans are in progress for the function and a snappy orchestra will present the musical program.

E. D. Patterson, Cambridge-st and Frank Begley, 403 South Lawn-av, returned Wednesday from a several days business trip to Chicago, Ill., in the interest of the Clow company.

Three tables were filled with players, Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. N. H. Carpenter entertained the members in her euchre club and a few guests at her home, 935 Cambridge-st.

The affair was planned for the pleasure of the hostess's house guest, her sister, Mrs. H. H. Fritz, of Columbus. Dainty refreshments were served at the conclusion of the game.

Miss Veronica Hanley had a most excellent paper on—"Early French Literature," Tuesday evening, at the bi-monthly meeting of the Spalding club, held with Mrs. Milo Bretzius, 216 south Third-st.

Current Events were the responses given to roll call. During the social half hour the hostess served a dainty luncheon. The club next meets in two weeks with Mrs. Ramey Curtis, 814 Chestnut-st

Miss Zora Matchett, who has been spending the past summer with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr and Mrs. Elmer Pierce, 1163 Kenilworth-av, left Wednesday for a visit with relatives at Clyde, O., returning to her home in LeRoy, Iowa.

Complimenting Mrs. Martha Weatherwax, who is leaving the last of the week for an extended stay in California, a group of friends and neighbors, arrayed in wierd and appropriate Hallowe'en costumes delightfully surprised her at her home in south Seventh-st, Tuesday evening.

In addition to the honored one, the following enjoyed the event: Mrs. C. C. Graham, Mrs. Allen Holmes, Mrst Andrew Keehn, Mrs. Edward Hankins, Mrs. A. C. Sondies, Mrs Paul Johnson, Mrs. Adeline Hare, Mrs. Wrennie Skinner, Mrs. Mabel McCleary, Mrs. Samuel Greenlzen, Mrs. Ella Hooker, Mrs. Chalmer Hagans, Mrs. Randles, Mrs. Maro Emerson, Mrs. E. C. Emerson, Mr. and Mrs Frank Weatherwax, and the Misses Margaret Quinlin, Dorothy Emerson, Mona Holmes, Ethel Skinner, Marjorie Greenizen and Edna Hagans.

Mrs. Frank Weatherwax, hostess for the evening, served delicious refreshments Mrs. Weatherwax was presented with a fitting gift as a parting remembrance from the guests.

Complimenting Mr. and Mrs James Hoagland, of Remington, Ind., who have been visiting relatives in Coshocton county for the past month, a family dinner was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Tredway, near Warsaw, Saturday.

Covers were placed for: Mr. and Mrs. Hoagland, the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Boyd, Mrs. George Whittemore, Miss Carrie Shannon and Frank Shannon, of Keene, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Clark and sons Robert and Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Clark and sons Herbert and Prentiss, Mrs. Edward Clark and sons Maurice, Floyd and Bert, Miss Edith Clark and J. A. Clark, of near Warsaw, Mrs Francis Huff and daughter Anne, of Coshocton, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Clark and Reva and Bruce Clark, Walhonding, the Misses Jessie, Dorothy and Eleanor Tredway and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Tredway.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoagland will leave by motor for their home sometime this week.

A masquerade party is to be held at the Hunter school, in Tiverton-tp, on Tuesday evening, October 30, in connection with the pie social arranged for that date.

Honoring Walter Hoffman on his eleventh birthday anniversary, a number of friends gathered at his home on Newcomerstown Route 2, Saturday afternoon.

The I. F. E. club members of the Ohio Bell Telephone company entertained with a dinner party, Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Pauline Torjusen, 943 Orchard-st.

Quantities of Hallowe'en decorations were placed thruout the house for the occasion and the dining room where the guests were served a delicious three course chicken dinner, was especially attractive. Novel lamp shades, suggestive of the season, were used and furnished the only lights here. Clever cards marked places for: Miss Lulu House, an invited guest and the following members: Mrs. Ruth Wright, Mrs. Lela Lowery, Mrs. Carrie Rodgers, Mrs. Amelia Butts, Mrs. Mildred McClain, Miss Norabelle Griffin, Miss Elizabeth Maitland, Miss Myrtle McCue and Mrs. Torjusen.

Music and stunts featured social diversion thruout the evening.

Mrs. Frank Dye, 871 Chestnut-st, has returned home after visiting with her husband, who is confined to the state sanitarium in Massillon and with relatives in Dennison.

The following group of persons enjoyed a barbecue Friday evening, at the John Hardesty home near Fresno: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ames, Mrs Emmett Smalley, Miss Esther Maxwell, Miss Mary Stahl, Miss Georgia Finnell, the Misses Edith, Gladys and Nelle Emerson, Miss Leora Thomas, the Misses Vesta and Letha Hardesty, Miss Ruth Corbitt, Miss Cora Hoffman, William Hardesty, Clarence Thomas, Walter Hoffman, Philip and Delmess Darringer, Clarence Young, Elmer Emerson, Harry Hothem, Frank Emerson and Alfred and Telford Hardesty.

D. D. Boyd's Sunday school class of Grace M. E. church will entertain with a comic dress party, Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. E. E Reamer, 927 East Main-st.

Mrs. Hugh M. Hay, 332 Mulberry-st, was hostess at the October meeting of the World Service Organization of the First Presbyterian church, Tuesday evening, at her home. Following a brief business session, Mrs. Lorna Cassady gave a splendid report of the recent synodical convention held at Columbus.

During the social hour, dainty refreshments were served to: Mrs. Joseph A. Speer, Mrs. H. L. McCullough, Mrs. Fred B. Compton, Mrs. D. Garvey Gayle, Mrs. Edna Dye, Mrs. Lorna Cassady, Miss Pearl Merrell, Miss Mary Owens, Miss Nelle Lennon, Miss Elizabeth English, Miss Mary Stewart, Miss Esther Davis, of Sandusky, Miss Marno Hay and the hostess.

Later they enjoyed a social time and a taffy pull.

The same officers are serving president, Miss Ruth Slaughter, vice-pres., Jean Miss Vera Haller, secretary, Miss Margaret Wilson, treasurer, Miss Marjorie Hudson.

road" which spell development and health.

"Democracy of the schools was supreme until the automobile came," Hammond said. "This innovation has created an undesirable and dangerous division of our schools into classes—plebeians and aristocrats.

"The school automobile must go, and it will take brave, patriotic men and women to accomplish the task."

From Columbia, Mo., comes the statement of Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri, that "there is probably no one thing more detrimental to the success in university work than the possession of an automobile by a student.

"Experience shows," he said, "that an unusually large proportion of students having automobiles fail to graduate."

Dr Brooks has requested parents of students attending the university not to furnish them with automobiles. He asked that the students having machines be required to take them home as soon as possible.

Educators are pointing to an unusual case in the Military Academy at Mexico, Mo., where a student who drove a handsome automobile was arrested and confessed to robbing a bank at Kansas City, Kansas.

The kid, it seemed, gratified his desire for luxuries enjoyed by wealthy students by robbing banks.

Another view of the situation is taken by some of the officials of Iowa State College, at Ames. It was asked there whether young men who owned automobiles should be permitted to go to college.

An Ames newspaper said:

"The problem differs in different colleges. Some have forbidden their students to keep cars. They are mainly institutions in small towns, where the students live as well as study and where the possession of automobiles by those who can afford it makes unpleasant class distinctions and disorganizes the college life and work.

"Others permit students coming from a distance to drive back and forth by special dispensations.

"On the whole, it looks more like a question of good taste and personal character than anything else. Eventually every American of responsible age may possess an automobile of his own. Who then can take them so much as a matter of course and a mere necessity of life forbid their use?

"And young men eventually will find that they will stop abusing them."

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Would Shut Down Gas Works

"My stomach has been so filled with gas for the last three years that I felt I could pretty nearly supply our town. I also had frequent pains in right side in region of the appendix. Doctors didn't help much. One day my neighbor told me about what Mayr's Wonderful Remedy had done for him and I got a bottle of our druggist. I can say that it will do all and more than you claim for it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

Feed The Wheat Surplus

THE better class of farm papers see the futility of tariffs and price fixing schemes as an aid to the wheat grower. The well meaning plan arrived at by the Wheat Conference several months ago to urge Americans to eat an extra slice of bread, while a beautiful theory, is not calculated in the judgment of most farm papers to bring to the farmer any real relief.

The Michigan Farmer urges wheat producers instead to feed surplus wheat to their stock as one of the real remedies to help them out of their present difficulty. In its issue this week the Michigan Farmer contains the following sensible advice to the American wheat grower:

"About all the Wheat Conference held last summer seems to have accomplished was a little publicity and efforts to inaugurate a campaign to eat more wheat products as the solution of the surplus wheat crop of 1922. The conference was well-intentioned and the theory of every one eating one more slice of bread a day as a solution of the surplus problem was based upon correct mathematical calculation. But like many other theories in economics, correct as they may be, it didn't work out.

"Theories that are workable must show a personal and direct advantage, or gain, for those working out the theory. Along this line of reasoning, a proposition has now been made to feed the surplus wheat and market it thru live stock. This theory is workable because it may be worked to the personal advantage of both wheat growers and farmers outside the wheat growing region to feed wheat.

"Wheat is selling for less than two cents a pound and the price of bran is about the same. So farmers sell their whole wheat, which contains more food value than bran, and then pay as much for the hulls as they received for their wheat. They also buy back the screenings from their own wheat at about the same price they received for the whole wheat. And they pay a cent or more per pound for scratch feed than they received for their wheat, and scratch feed is made up largely of cracked corn, which is cheaper than wheat, and wheat kernels not suitable for making flour. Grit added to scratch feed makes the price a little higher as well as a little heavier.

"It is no reflection upon dealers who sell bran, screenings and scratch feed to farmers for feed, and ask more for the by-product of wheat than the farmer gets for the whole grain. Various manufacturing processes, rail transportation, cartage and cost of handling make the price of these by-products. The point is that with wheat at the present price it would be decidedly more economical to feed whole wheat, especially when it is grown on the farm, than sell it and buy back an inferior grade of feed at the same or better price than the wheat."

U. S. Road Work Shows Gains

THAT the construction of modern automobile roads and paved streets in this country is gaining in volume year by year is shown by statistics just announced by Highways Information Service, New York. The figures show also that highway contracts awarded during the second half of the year average in volume only about 25 per cent less than those let during the first half and that there is not a month of the year in which a large amount of construction placed is not under contract.

In 1920 a total of $530,848,000 in new road construction was awarded in this country. In 1921 the amount was $630,712,000 an increase of $99,864,000 over 1920. Last year contracts were awarded to the amount of $669,428,000 an increase of $38,716,000 over 1921 and $138,380,000 over 1920. From January 1 to June 1, this year, a total of $384,774,000 was placed under contract. At this rate new highways for which contracts will be let during 1923 will cost approximately $794,000,000 a gain of about $125,000,000 over 1922.

About $1,250,000,000 all told, for Federal, state, county, district, township and city highway construction and maintenance will be expended this year. The Federal and state appropriations for state highways alone total $800,000,000 the city and town appropriations for streets and roads total $285,000,000 and the remainder represents the funds to be expended by the counties, parishes, road districts and townships. Compared with the 1923 road construction in the United States, the construction of the great Roman highways, the erection of the pyramids, the building of the Chinese wall and the excavation of the Panama Canal pale into insignificance.

Highway work by states for state and Federal aid actually under contract at present is as follows: Alabama, $8,584,000; Arizona, $1,270,000; Arkansas, $625,000; California, $1,343,000; Colorado, $8,345,000; Delaware, $2,600,000; Idaho, $2,175,000; Illinois, $23,400,000; Iowa, $9,000,000; Kentucky, $1,000,000; Louisiana, $2,000,000; Maine, $8,500,000; Maryland, $4,265,000; Massachusetts, $1,358,000; Michigan, $13,836,000; Minnesota, $1,290,000; Mississippi, $6,000,000; Missouri, $29,233,000; Nebraska, $1,218,000; Nevada, $300,000; New Hampshire, $100,000; New Jersey, $8,500,000; New Mexico, $300,000; North Carolina, $37,497,000; North Dakota, $1,800,000; Ohio, $30,000,000; Oklahoma, $600,000; Oregon, $1,335,000; Pennsylvania, $12,259,000; Rhode Island, $887,000; South Carolina, $6,023,000; South Dakota, $350,000; Utah, $1,000,000; Vermont, $600,000; Washington, $3,000,000; West Virginia, $15,000,000; Wisconsin, $9,000,000; Wyoming, $4,900,000.

The State Highway Department in Michigan, in its biennial report for 1921-1922, gives some valuable data on the cost of maintaining its highways. Its investigations show that for the different types of roads maintenance costs averaged per mile as follows: Earth, $268.57; sand, $415.66; gravel, $666.94; waterbound macadam, $806.09; asphaltic macadam, $525.95; asphaltic concrete, $514.09; Portland cement concrete, $829.81; unclassified, $512.34.

Ohio, one of the leading states engaged in new highway construction placed under contract in 1920 a total of 412.16 miles of new roads, at a total cost of $12,866,119.89. In 1921 this state contracted for 393.80 miles at $13,774,596.47. Last year Ohio contracted for 714.26 miles at $21,152,315.80. Iowa spent on its roads last year a total of $31,500,000.

New York Day-by-Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, OCT 24. It is not difficult to understand why New Yorkers thrill to the panorama of great open spaces in the movies when you see the cramped existence here. The piano box apartment is responsible for much of the city's unrest.

Even the space of a fire escape is welcome. The kitchenette is rarely large enough for more than one person and the bedroom of a two room apartment is usually a mere alcove off the living room. In a respectable neighborhood an ordinary two room apartment rents for $250 a month.

One presses a button to drop down the bed and opens a clothes closet to find a hidden wash room. Even telephones are tucked in slots in the wall to give more room. The fight to save space grows with each new building.

There used to be a comfortable foyer in apartment houses. Now there is just enough room for the telephone switchboard and a chair. Even the dumbwaiters are about half their former size and nothing so deep was ever so overworked.

It is not unusual for families of four and five to live in two rooms and a bath, and over in the tenement districts as many as fourteen sleep in a single room. Before the housing shortage, Harlem had many four and five room apartments and — think of it — first month's rent free.

Nearly all of these have been made over into two room apartments and rents are almost double the four and five room affairs. The older hotels show how rooms of the new hotels have shrunk. The new are just about one-third the old size.

New Yorkers are continually worrying about what will happen to the town in ten years. It is certain its traffic and housing crisis cannot be kept up. Suburban rents are just about the same as those in the city with the added cost and inconvenience of cost of commuting.

One of those stage types of Fifth Avenue butlers — wearing side wheel whiskers, hair parted down the back and a whipped dog expression of dignity — was standing behind the grilled doors of a mansion the other morning. An old beggar shuffled up to him and held out his cap. The butler turned away in annoyance. "I want to have a half dozen like you working for me," shouted the beggar moving on.

The impudence of the New York beggars is responsible for the lack of sympathy the city feels for them. If aid is denied them, they follow along uttering all sorts of epithets. There is one who hangs around the Metropolitan opera at night. He is always asking for 50 cents to get to Jersey. If he is refused he goes into a violent rage and threatens bodily injury.

One night the beggar accosted a plain clothes man. He said: "I'm a member of the seven brothers and I shoot people as quick as look at them." When he came around to consciousness he was feet up in an ambulance and riding fast.

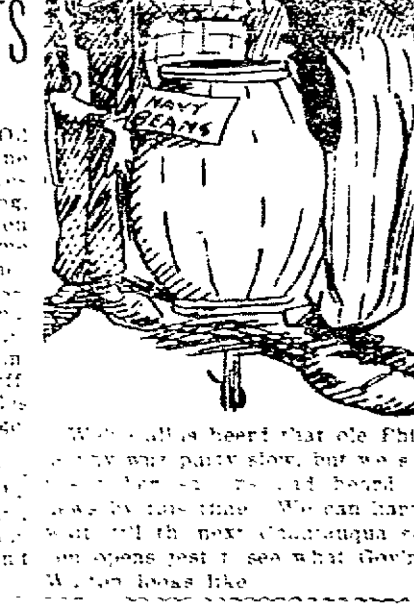

The most sophisticated appearing fellows in New York, by the way, are the young internes who ride in ambulances. While the vehicle clangs madly thru the streets, the interne sits in the rear usually puffing at a cigarette and reading the funny pictures. In fact, one night there was one twanging away at a ukulele on the way to a building collapse.

And in a hospital waiting room one night I saw a young interne come in and toss off his white coat nonchalantly.

"What was the last trip?" asked the orderly.

"Aw, it was a D. O. A." was the rather disappointed reply. A "D. O. A." means "Dead on arrival."

GOOD LOOKS GOOD HEALTH

WENDELL'S SALTS, AMBITION BRAND—that's the answer. Some of you ladies who read this may have complexion disfigured by liver spots and discolorations. If this is the case, don't worry about it and don't use face lotions. Just go at once to Wimmer Arnold Co. and get a large bottle of WENDELL'S SALTS, AMBITION BRAND, for only sixty cents. It will clear your complexion by helping to drive from your system the poisonous uric acid that is affecting your liver, stomach and kidneys. A poor, rough, mottled skin isn't due to the sun or weather, but to an upset condition which uric acid usually causes. Go to the root of the trouble. Destroy that and your good looks and health will return.

WENDELL'S SALTS, AMBITION BRAND, is a wonderful preparation for indigestion, biliousness, constipation, headache, rheumatism, malaria, nervousness, kidney troubles—when caused by uric acid poison.

Remember, WENDELL'S SALTS, AMBITION BRAND, is guaranteed by Wimmer Arnold Co. and dealers everywhere.

It is pleasant to take, acts quickly, and you can get your money back on the first bottle purchased if dissatisfied.

WALT MASON

THE SAFETY POET

Some poets sing of roses red, of pansies growing in a bed, of buds that into blossoms burst, but still I sing of Safety First. Some bards stand up for fabled gods, for satyrs, nymphs and other frauds; but, having primed myself with wurst, I tune my harp to Safety First. If I by singing can persuade some reckless youth or giddy maid to give a thot to others' rights when scorching up the pike o' nights, methinks 'twill cut but little grass if I let crimson roses pass. If I by simple, homely runes can check the gait of speeding loons, and thus the undertaker rob, and save the coroner a job, my efforts you will not deride, if I let fragrant lilies slide. Oh, there are tons and tons of song that will endure thru ages long; if you are suffering for pomes turned out by great and lofty domes, you'll find a million on the shelves; roll up your sleeves and help yourselves. But few of all the soaring odes discuss the traffic on the roads. No Milton warns the flying kids against the speedy car that skids. No Shakespeare plies a savage goad upon the skate who hogs the road. Such bards in grandeur were immersed; they gave no heed to Safety First.

SAYS DIGESTIVE

eating of "fast" and "slow" foods. He explained the former as food that passes rapidly through the digestive channel, while "slow" food is that which digests slowly and takes considerably longer time to pass through the intestinal canal.

The people with the short intestines are thin because the food has much less time to be absorbed as it passes through the canal.

"No wonder some persons get fat," declared Dr. Goldthwait, "when their food goes through forty feet of intestines. In such persons all the food particles are taken up by the body. But when food goes through the system rapidly, as most food does most of the nourishment is lost in the short digestive channel. To remedy this the thin person must eat food that goes through the intestines slowly.

"Any competent dietician can prescribe a menu of goods and a mode of living that will put weight on the healthy person. In the same way a dietician can lay down a routine of living and eating that will reduce flesh."

The average length of the intestinal channel is about 80 feet, Dr. Goldthwait said, but it varies in the extremely thin and fat persons from 10 to 40 feet, respectively.

The doctor then gave out a little timely advice to the society belles who are affecting the slouchy attitude and careless postures. This, he says, only leads to a depressed diaphragm and a distortion of the circulating system.

"Be just as much ashamed of a slouchy posture in standing or sitting as you would be of poor grammar," the doctor advised for the edification of the girls.

COSHOCTON HIGH TO BE IDLE SAT.; MILLERSBURG NEXT

Lester Bucher's high school squad will be idle Saturday as it [illegible] an open date for the team. Several of the squad members including Coach Lester Bucher will journey to Columbus Saturday afternoon to see the Ohio State football engagement.

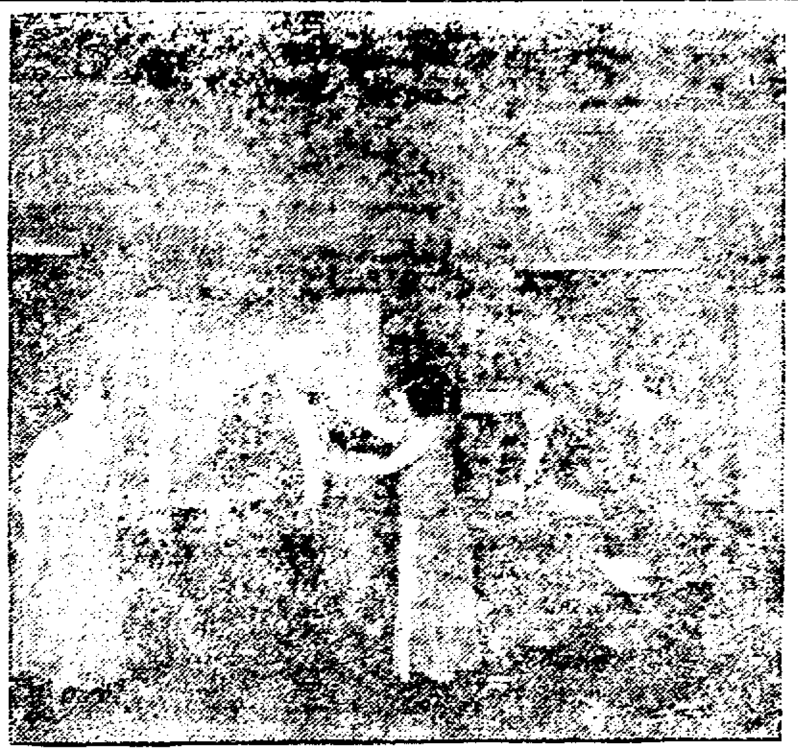

The rain this week has prevented the high school squad from practicing but will resume work at next week.

The locals will invade Millersburg on Saturday, November 3. Keen rivalry has existed between Millersburg and Coshocton for several years.

From reports Millersburg has one of the fastest football teams [illegible] in many seasons. As a rule Coshocton and Millersburg have been even in football and basket ball games. It has been nip and tuck between the two aggregations.

On November 10 the fast Uhrichsville football machine will play with Bucher's outfit. Perhaps the most interesting game of the season will be between Coshocton and Newcomerstown. The game is scheduled for Saturday, November 17, at Newcomerstown. Much rivalry has existed between these two teams. Newcomerstown has been playing better football recently and should give the Coshocton boys a big run for the honors. Newcomerstown played the Holloway High aggregation off its feet in a recent game at Newcomerstown.

The last game of the season for Coshocton is with Danville at Coshocton.

WALTON IMPEACHED BUT WILL CONTEND SESSION ILLEGAL

Spends Day in Capitol; Lt-Trapp Is Acting Governor

BOTH SILENT

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 24 — [illegible] from the governorship of Oklahoma by action of the Oklahoma senate following impeachment last night on two of 22 counts by the house of representatives, Walton came to his office at the capitol as usual today.

Lieutenant Governor Martin Edward Trapp, who has been a figure in Oklahoma politics since 1914, serving three four-year terms as lieutenant governor prior to the present term, was acting governor today.

"I shall observe the law," was the only statement Lieutenant Trapp would make. However, he will be expected to have a formal statement ready sometime today.

Governor Walton had nothing to say. It is understood, however, in defense counsel circles that a general demurrer to all charges will be made on the ground that the impeachment session is illegal because Governor Walton called the extraordinary session to enact legislation again the Ku Klux Klan.

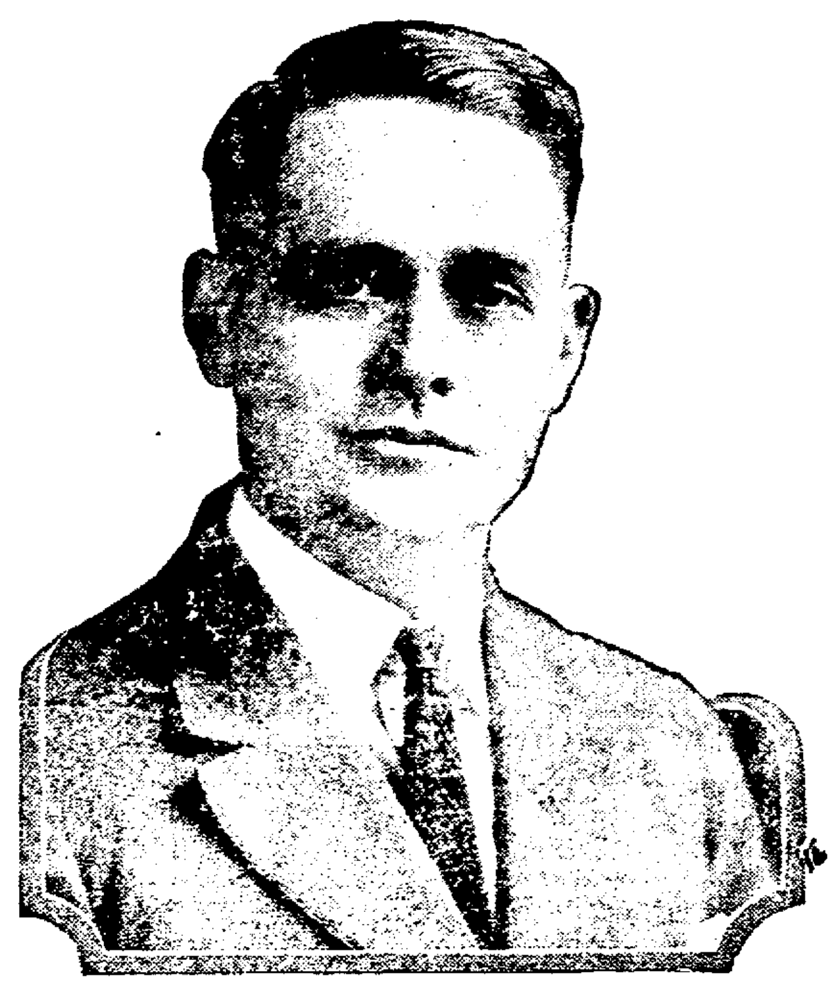

The house of representatives, sure of its legal ground because it is working on three separate calls to extraordinary session, continued today to read testimony and bring impeachments on the remaining 20 count contained in the general bill of indictment.

A board of managers composed of W. E. Disney, Judge T. H. Wren and James R. Tolbert, were working to present impeachment indictments to the senate. They will prosecute the case. Two more will be appointed to the board later, it was said.

Supreme court Justice Tomkinson will be notified today that the senate now sits as a court hearing impeachment. Organization of that body for trial will be consummated later in the day.

One by one the remaining counts are expected to come over from the house.

Yours for Greater Coshocton

FEDERAL COURT

haps satisfy another group and the validity of every action of the tariff commission would remain in doubt until some federal court decision was obtained. The interests planning to bring suit are friendly to the law but want to feel sure of their ground before conducting their business under new rates.

Before putting the flexible provision into the tariff law, congress debated it at length. Constitutional lawyers differed as to the validity of the proposal. Those who opposed it declared that congress cannot delegate tariff-making powers and that a change in tariff rates is a change in government income and the house of representatives alone can initiate revenue legislation under the federal constitution.

Those who favor the law argue, on the other hand that the legislative branch of the government has not delegated its powers but has simply established certain limitations within which the president acting on investigations made by the tariff commission is authorized by congress to proclaim rate changes. It is contended that the delegation of certain discretionary powers in the chief executive by congress has again and again been sustained by the courts.

Even however if the flexible provision is declared unconstitutional the other parts of the tariff law would not be invalidated nor would the commission be abolished as its investigating machinery is particularly valuable to congress and American manufacturers.

The tariff commission is having a hard time incidentally getting costs of production from abroad. The fluctuation of foreign currencies and the abnormality of the entire commercial and industrial situation make comparison difficult, if not impossible.

There is a poltical angle to the matter, too. The Republicans have been claiming that even if the Fordney-McCumber law is inequitable in spots the machinery for correction has been provided. The Democrats will be able to point out that the changes made are relatively few and that the machinery itself is of doubtful validity and that congress cannot escape responsibility for tariff making.

BETTER WHEAT ON OHIO FARMS

That the better quality wheats are gaining in favor among Ohio farmers, is shown by a census of wheat growers taken at the Ohio State Fair by L. E. Thatcher, associate agronomist of the Ohio Experiment Station.

Of the 18 varieties grown in the 75 counties reporting, the Poole, Trumbull, Gladden, Nigger, Portage, Fulhio, and Baldwin in the order named, head the list in acreage. These are all of excellent milling and baking quality as well as high producing varieties.

The Poole has long been a favorite in Ohio, and altho it still leads in acreage, is giving way to the Experiment Station varieties selected because they combine the many desirable qualities such as good milling and bread making, high yields, hardiness, disease resistance, etc.

One of these varieties, the Trumbull, increased in five years from 1 per cent to 12 per cent of the total acreage of the 75 counties reporting. The Gladden, Fulhio, and Portage have also made rapid gains in acreage.

Farmers are coming to believe that poor quality wheats should have no place on their farms, and the Thatcher's report indicates [illegible] varieties as the Red [illegible] and Mealy are being [illegible]

SOUSA'S BAND

That Sousa is the best-beloved of all present day conductors is indicated that the majority of the men who will appear with the famous bandmaster during his thirty-first annual tour are men who have been with him for more than five seasons. The average length of service of the eighty-eight men in the band is about eight years, and there are several men who have been with the March-King more than twenty seasons. The esteem in which he is held by bandsmen over the country was indicated upon his last visit to Shreveport, La., where a director of a rural band drove more than 150 miles in his "flivver" to greet Sousa. Often as many as a dozen local band leaders may be found on the stage following a concert.

"THE UNWANTED CHILD"

One of the most discussed plays, both for and against its presentation on the stage, will be the offering at the 6th St. Theatre, Friday and Saturday, October 26-27 with a special matinee for ladies only. No children admitted to any performance. The play was written by that brilliant young playwright, Miss Florence Edna May, who is not only a prominent writer of plays, but also the author of many of the best sellers. Miss May has given the theme of "The Unwanted Child" most careful study, and has succeeded in turning out a remarkable indictment in favor of unwanted babies. An excellent cast of metropolitan players will present the play with special scenery and effects.

FIVE SOWS OFFER SIX TONS OF PORK

More Litters Qualify for State Ton-Litter Club, Bringing Total to 25

Nearly six more tons of live pork from five sows have been presented for entrance into the 1923 State Ton-Litter Club. A total of 22 farmers with 25 litters have now qualified as charter members of this group by raising litters of pigs to the weight of a ton or more in six months. Their 25 litters aggregate more than 25 tons.

While hog raisers in both Indiana and Illinois have produced litters weighing over a ton and a half recently, an Ohio farmer has in one important respect gone them one better by raising a litter of 10 pigs to a weight of 2970 pounds 180 days from birth, or an average of 297 pounds a pig.

This mark, set by G. L. Evans and Son of Highland County, is thot to be a world's record for a 10-pig litter. The Illinois 13-pig litter made 3161 pounds in six months, and the Indiana 13-pig litter a few weeks later made 3210 pounds at the same age.

Ohio's five latest litters qualifying for the state club are, in order of performance, U. S. Veterans' Bureau, of Ross County, with 12 purebred Duroc Jersey pigs totaling 2512 pounds six months after birth. R. L. Anderson, Ross County, 10 purebred Poland Chinas 2285. Samuel Hatcher, Logan County, 10 purebred Poland Chinas 2290. U. S. Veterans' Bureau, Ross County, a second litter of 10 purebred Duroc Jerseys, 2120. P. D. Sharp, Logan County, 11 purebred Chester Whites, 2100 pounds.

Entries for the 1923 ton-litter contest close Oct. 27, the final certification date.

MRS. STOKES' DIARY TO BE UTILIZED IN DEFENSE OF HONOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The power of two states—Illinois and New York—joined forces today for a woman's honor.

Charles S. Wharton, assistant state's attorney of Cook-co, Illinois, and assistant district attorney of New York presented Charles Erbstein and Samuel Untermyer, trial counsel for Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, pretty, titian haired defendant in the divorce action being pressed by her 70-year-old multi-millionaire husband, William Earl Dodge Stokes, ready to testify in the woman's behalf.

Elmer T. Wallace, San Francisco oil man, correspondent, also asserted he was ready to testify.

Mrs. Stokes, armed with her diary of her married life, was prepared to take the stand to refute the charges built up by her husband with the aid of 21 witnesses, 1 of them negroes, that she and Wallace had been seen on many occasions in an alleged "love nest" maintained by the San Francisco man in New York.

Wallace reiterated this morning that Stokes' charges are "lies" and the entire case is the "biggest outrage ever aired in an American court."
